Overarching Themes

- A very young age profile in the national and local context
- Health and wellbeing needs reflect a younger population profile, with mental health and wellbeing, self-harm, smoking, substance misuse, sexual and reproductive health and child health to the fore
- Whilst levels of deprivation are typically below the national average, there are higher levels in some parts of the town including Younghayes Road and Tillhouse Road. Further to this the overall proportion of households across the town with all four dimensions (education, employment, housing and health) of deprivation present (0.3%) is above the national average (0.2%) suggesting a dispersed pattern of high needs households across the town
- Higher levels of Asthma prevalence, emergency admissions in under fives, hospital admissions for injuries in children and young people, hospital admissions for self-harm, general fertility rate, and smoking rates are seen
- Vulnerabilities around food poverty and indebtedness (partly reflecting housing costs and the high proportion of homes owned with a mortgage) are evident

Population Pyramid 2022

The age profile in Cranbrook is particularly young in a local and national context, reflecting the typical demographic structure seen in brand new communities.

Cranbrook is marked by a relatively large younger working-age population (early 20s to early 40s), which corresponds to a larger child population (particularly in pre-school and primary school aged children, with smaller proportions aged 14 to 21, and in older working-age, and an extremely small proportion of retirement age.

Age Structure vs other Devon towns

This chart comparing Cranbrook to other Devon towns highlights how distinct the Cranbrook population is in the context of the county. With only 3.4% of the population aged 65 and over, compared with 25.6% for Devon as a whole, and a range from 17.4% (Exeter) to 42.1% (Seaton) across other Devon settlements.

As illustrated overleaf, whilst the population age profile is projected to get slightly older over time, it is still expected to retain a very young demographic structure.

Deprivation

(Deprivation Dimensions 2021 Census and Indices of Deprivation 2019)

Deprivation Dimensions 2021

The deprivation dimensions indicator in the 2021 Census measures deprivation on four domains (education, employment, health and housing). Cranbrook is typically below the national average, but with higher levels around Younghayes Road (above national/local average) and Tillhouse Road (above local average). Further to this the overall proportion of households across the town with all four dimensions present (0.3%) is above the national average (0.2%) suggesting a pattern of dispersed high needs households across the town.

Output area comparison

Highlighted Cranbrook Output Areas

E00180239: Younghayes Road /
Burrough Fields

Highest in Cranbrook and above local and national averages for deprivation dimensions and unemployment indicators.

E00180165: Tillhouse Road

Second highest in Cranbrook and above East Devon average for deprivation dimensions. Highest in Cranbrook for unemployment.

E00180212: Mead Cross / Henrys
Run / Pitt Park

Third highest in Cranbrook and above East Devon average for deprivation dimensions.

Indices of Deprivation 2019

- The latest available Indices of Deprivation are from 2019 and are largely based on 2016 and 2017 data
- The small areas used are based on the 2011 Census before building in Cranbrook commenced placing Cranbrook in two areas: the West of the town with Broadclyst South, Poltimore and Dog Village: the East of the town with Rockbeare, Clyst Honiton and Marsh Green. At this stage Cranbrook constated around half of the population of the former, and a minority of the latter
- These areas had levels of deprivation below the national average with the more recent deprivation dimensions census indicator suggesting Cranbrook may be lower again
- These areas were higher for access to housing and services, child poverty and education measures which may be influenced by the Cranbrook profile

Health

Health Headlines (Local Health / JSNA / Behaviour Risk Factors / Practice Profile)

---

- Prevalence of health conditions typically lower than Devon reflecting age profile
- Higher prevalence of Asthma (9.16% in Cranbrook vs 6.53% nationally)
- Higher levels of emergency admissions in under fives
- Higher levels of emergency admissions for injuries in children and young adults
- Higher levels of emergency admissions for self-harm
- Higher general fertility rate (on account of younger adult demographic)
- Generally lower levels of deprivation, obesity, hospital admissions, long-term conditions and mortality rates
- Devon Behavioural Risk Factors dashboard highlights higher lower level of excess weight, similar levels of physical inactivity, and higher levels of smoking vs East Devon, reflecting age structure of Cranbrook

- Cranbrook below the national average on both the 2022 Small Area Mental Health Index (composite measure of admissions, prescribing and benefits) and the 2019 Indices of Multiple Deprivation Mood and Anxiety Disorders indicator
- Anti-depressant prescribing rates are also below Devon and England average
- The above measures highlight lower levels of relative mental health need partly driven by lower levels of deprivation in the town
- The age profile of the town however does contribute to higher levels of absolute mental health need / service demand including:
  - Higher prevalence of conditions associated with younger age groups, particularly in females. This is particularly seen with anxiety and eating disorders
  - Higher levels for initial reporting/diagnosis of conditions as town has higher proportions at age of average onset from most conditions (inc. eating, mood and personality disorders)
  - Higher levels of self-harm including admissions and attendance (peak ages 10-24)

Economy

Cost of Living

The Devon Cost of Living Index Cost of Living - Devon Health and Wellbeing profiles vulnerability across Devon and is comprised of indicators on child poverty, fuel poverty, food poverty, claimant count and income deprivation.

Whilst the overall index (left) suggests lower risk in Cranbrook, levels of food poverty are higher, reflecting some of the specific challenges that working families in Cranbrook are facing.

Cost of Living Index: East Devon highlight

Food Poverty Indicator: East Devon highlight

Housing Tenure

Detailed information on housing tenure from the 2021 Census also highlights quite how different the Cranbrook profile is to Devon, reflect the characteristics of the town.

A very high proportion of homes are either owned outright or in shared ownership making the population at higher risk from changes in market conditions and interest rates. Social renting is also largely not local authority-based.

Education and Outcomes for Children

- Headlines from latest annual data (2024)
  - Cranbrook (63.6%, confidence interval range 54.4-72.2%) slightly below the Devon (69.0%) national average for children achieving a good level of development at reception (Early Years Foundation Score) but not significantly so
  - No significant difference to Devon for exclusions, absences or attainment (very small numbers)
- A further analysis of education and childrens data over a longer period (three to five years) will be necessary to reveal any significant differences

Relative Child Poverty

Levels of child poverty in Cranbrook are significantly below the local and national average, with 8.7% of children in 2024 living in households in relative poverty, compared with 15.8% for East Devon and 21.8% for England.

Higher levels were seen in 2016 (11.3%) in the town 2020 (11.9%) although these still remained below local and national averages.
